

2nd BfR Knowledge Dialogue „Trust during a crisis“

November 8th, 2022 at the Magnus-Haus Berlin
Am Kupfergraben 7, 10117 Berlin

Trust influences all social interaction and yet is so difficult to grasp. Those who trust find themselves in a state between knowing and not knowing and possibly make themselves vulnerable.

However, trust can also be rewarded and lead to more intensive relationships and better success.

Our experts will discuss trust - not only in times of Covid-19, war and climate change. The event will be moderated by Eva Wolfangel.

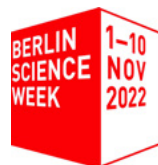

The BfR Knowledge Dialogue is part of the Berlin Science Week 2022.

Registration:

Please register until November 6th, 2022 here.

Directions

Please note that the venue is not barrier-free.

- 3:00 – 4:00 pm Registration
- 4:00 – 4:15 pm Greeting
Prof. Dr Dr Andreas Hensel, President of the German Federal Institute for Risk Assessment, Berlin
- 4:15 – 4:45 pm On trust in science in Germany - findings from the (population-representative) Science barometer science survey
Ricarda Ziegler, Wissenschaft im Dialog, Berlin
- 4:45 – 5:15 pm Conditions for critical trust
Prof. Dr Lisbet Fjæran, University of Stavanger, Norway
- 5:15 – 5:45 pm Trust in the Digital Economy
Prof. Dr Timm Teubner, TU Berlin
- 5:45 – 6:15 pm Trust: Opium for the People or Grease for Society?
Prof. Dr Michael Siegrist, ETH Zürich
- 6:15 – 7:00 pm Panel discussion
- from 7:00 pm End of the event and get-together
- Moderation: Eva Wolfangel

